Meet the City's First Cultural Diversity and Inclusion Officer

The City's first full time Cultural Diversity Inclusion Officer Meski Ashagrie was born in Ethiopia. She studied Public Policy and Social Management at the University of York in England for three years, before she and her husband moved to Australia in 2010 to start a new life together. She was in Australia for two years before the arrival of her first child.

As a new mother adapting to a new social and cultural environment, Meski felt isolated and believed the child health nurse was the only support she could access. Unaware of the mother's and play groups that were available, Meski would often walk around shopping centres, making most of any social interaction she would come across during the day.

Meski says hers is one of the many young families immigrating to Cockburn who are not aware of the range of community, family, youth, senior and children services the City of Cockburn offers and is passionate about getting this message across. Australian Census 2016 results show the City of Cockburn is becoming increasingly diverse. In 2016, 45 per cent of our residents had both parents born overseas, which is above average for Western Australia; 26 per cent of the Cockburn population speaks a language other than English at home.

Youth Services RYDE Program

The City of Cockburn's Youth Services is excited to partner with the Regional Youth Driver Education Program RYDE. It gives young people the opportunity to complete their 50 hours of supervised driving experience with a volunteer driving mentor.

Many young people find it difficult to complete the 50 hours of driving experience now required for a Western Australian Driver's Licence. The RYDE program will connect learner drivers with a volunteer driver mentor and automatic vehicle, so that they can get their licence and all of the opportunities that come with it.

The City is currently looking for volunteer driver instructors. You do not need to be a qualified driving instructor but will need to undertake an induction and pass a police clearance.

For more information, phone 08 9411 3888 or visit ryde.org.au

Children learn Nyungar with word games

The City of Cockburn was the first Perth metropolitan council to have a Reconciliation Action Plan (RAP) through Reconciliation Australia. The City is currently compiling its third RAP. A RAP helps us to develop actions for building respectful relationships and creating opportunities for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples to participate in the Cockburn community. The local Nyungar language is a key focus of the City's commitment to reconciliation.

As part of this, our Aboriginal Community Development Officer, Samantha Mourish, recently taught some Nyungar words to our Children's Reference Group (CRG) via a word game. Deni, who has been in the CRG since its inception in late 2012, said he was "winyarn" - he had not won the game, but was pleased to learn some Nyungar words.

Pools at the ready

As we approach the warmer weather, it's a good time to check that your home swimming pool meets the safety requirements.

You can download the Building Commission Booklet, Rules for Pools and Spas at cockburn.wa.gov.au/poolsandspas, to ensure your pool meets safety standards.

Things to consider:

Swimming Pool Gates

A pool fence gate is crucial in preventing a child's access. Too often pool gates are not secured properly and this can lead to drowning. A child doesn't need a lot of strength to open an unsecured gate. Gates must be:

- Self-closing and self-latching from all open positions, including latch on latch
- Open away from the pool area

Mosquitoes

Mosquitoes generally breed in higher numbers in warmer months and can occasionally spread disease-causing viruses. It is important for residents to be aware of how to avoid mosquito bites.

Windows that are within the pool enclosure:

- Must be fitted with a compliant security screen or fixed to open no more than 100mm. Key locks are not compliant.

Climbable objects

The pool fence must be clear of any climbable objects, for example pot plants, BBQs, window sills, retaining walls etc. For all pools, not including glass fencing, there must be an internal 300mm clearance. Refer to the Building Commission Booklet Rules for Pools and Spas on our website for further information.

Swimming Pool Fences

Fencing is another essential layer of defence in the prevention of drowning. Pool fencing is a legal requirement in all states and territories in Australia. Heavy penalties can be imposed for pools that are deemed non-compliant. Swimming pool fences should be:

- Secure and in good working order
- No more than 100mm from the ground
- At least 1.2m high
- Boundary fence should be at least 1.8m high
- No vertical gaps more than 100mm apart

You can also learn more by visiting commerce.wa.gov.au and search 'pools and spas'.

Tips:

- Avoid exposure to mosquitoes for the first few hours after dusk
- Wear protective clothing when outdoors
- Use a personal repellent
- Install insect screens
- Use mosquito nets and mosquito-proof tents when camping and outdoors
- Empty pot plant-bases, birdbaths and ornamental pools weekly.

Deputy Mayor Carol Reeve-Fowkes

During my ten years with Cockburn Council, I have seen very rapid growth and many changes in our City.

I believe that Sustainability is the key for a happy and healthy future. It is the vital component to allow for growth, but still protects our Parks, Wetlands and Beaches and open spaces.

We must ensure we plant more shade trees to help keep our drying climate more manageable, but still keep mindful of the bush fire season. I support and strongly advocate for the retention and planting of more shade trees for future generations to enjoy and to help mitigate the effects of urban heat in our environment.

Recently, I was very honoured to be awarded a Certificate of Merit from the West Australian Local Government Association. This acknowledgment by my peers was a huge surprise and very humbling to receive. It's been a great privilege to help build and grow the City of Cockburn and I hope to serve our Community for many more years as we welcome our newly Elected Members in October.

Cr Stephen Pratt

Cockburn is fortunate to have a large number of active and engaged community and sporting groups.

I'm taking this opportunity to encourage you, as a resident of Cockburn, to get involved with your local community group or a sporting club.

The City is extremely supportive of our community groups as they are a good place to meet new people and contribute towards making our great city even better.

If you are interested get in touch with the City's administration or website for more information.

Local Government elections will be held this month is your opportunity to vote on who represents our City on the council.

Often only around 20% of residents vote and this number should be higher, so I encourage everyone to have their say by returning their postal ballots by 21 October.
